Designed to be comfortable

The result was achieved thanks to its design on one hand and the soft polyurethane foam to the other, with which the shell of the Moon is produced.

or those who have lost themselves in watching the unspeakable beauty of the moon, in every phase. For those who have looked up, at night, with dreamy eyes, traveling with the mind towards that distant world. The moon, unreachable and at the same time magnetic, has always been the subject of poems, stories, desires. So the designer Mac Stopa wanted to pay homage, expressing through design the pleasant and dreamy shapes of the moon.
